Background

- The Market Design group at the NYISO works closely with Market Participants on everything from early conceptual designs to the final tariff language to effectuate changes in the market rules.
- This requires a good understanding of different stakeholder's goals and priorities.
- The pandemic has meant that there has been limited ability to interact outside of the regularly scheduled working groups and committees.
- We are proposing to schedule video calls with different stakeholders for casual discussions of your company's goal and objectives. We will also include a short "getting to know you" session for the benefit of our newer team members.
- We will be reaching out to some of you to see if you would be interested in scheduling a session or you can email me (nbouchez@nyiso.com) to let me know you are interested.

Proposal

- We are proposing to schedule video calls with different stakeholders for casual discussions of your company's goal and objectives.
  - We would also like to include a short “getting to know you” session for the benefit of our newer NYISO team members.

The details

- We would schedule one hour for the meeting.
- We have a slight preference for Friday afternoons but will work with stakeholders to find a time that works.
- We anticipate scheduling meetings every 3-4 weeks and would aim to cover all the different sectors.
- We anticipate that the following questions would be a good start to the conversation:
  - Could you provide some background about you and your company/organization?
  - What are your company's goals over the next 3-5 years – how do you see your business changing?
  - How long have you worked in your current position and what was your path there?
  - What market design changes would you like to see over the next 3-5 years and why?

Feedback

- Please let us know if you would like to participate (nbouchez@nyiso.com) and/or if you have any feedback on what we have planned
